

Network for Life Sciences in Niedersachsen

Niedersachsen

BioRegion

We are the network for life sciences in Niedersachsen

We bring together scientists, academics, entrepreneurs and investors.

We promote technology transfer in Niedersachsen's life science industry.

Our main goal is to convert the potential of promising research results into innovative processes, products and services for the market.

Our network consists of around 260 cluster members such as companies, universities, and institutions in the life science sector and related field of expertise.

We work on behalf of the Ministry for Economics, Labour and Transport of Niedersachsen.

Our agency is located at the Innovationszentrum Niedersachsen.

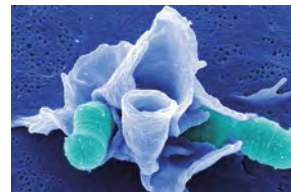

Main topics

We focus on the following main topics:

biomedical engineering

infection medicine and drug research

industrial biotechnology

digitalization and big data

We cooperate with partner organizations from different technology sectors in order to pool expertise in interdisciplinary fields and to broaden our sphere of influence.

Our services

For companies and partner organizations we offer:

- platforms for communication and knowledge exchange between companies and researchers such as workshops, round tables, and networking events
- initiation and steering of innovative projects for the development of marketable products, services and procedures
- assistance in finding suitable collaboration partners in industry and academic research
- provision of news from the life science sector as well as funding information and competitions

Your challenges

- Do you have a project idea and you are looking for suitable cooperation or technology partners?
- Do you want to develop an innovative product and need help in finding financial support?
- Are you planning to found a new business and need assistance to start it?
- Do you want to get in R&D and need contacts with relevant academic research institutions?
- Are you looking for opportunities to exchange information about trends and developments in the life science branch with companies and research institutions in Niedersachsen?

Contact us because we are here to help you meet these challenges!

